

PENNY WINS SCHOOL TRUSTEESHIP CONTEST
Court of Appeals Says Judge Hardin Erred in Deciding McRoberts Was the Winner.

In an opinion handed down by the Court of Appeals at Frankfort, Wednesday, the state's highest court decided that Judge Charles A. Hardin was wrong in deciding that P. M. McRoberts was elected School Trustee in Stanford over Geo. L. Penny, in the hotly contested school trustee election held here recently. The appellate court held that Penny was legally elected trustee, and thus a long and hard fought legal battle is ended. Penny won the election, it will be remembered on the face of the returns by a majority of two votes, receiving 177 votes to 175 votes for McRoberts.

The letter, through attorneys J. N. Menefee, Jr., J. B. Paxton, K. S. Alcorn, J. S. Owsley, J. N. Saunders, and T. J. Hill, Jr., filed suit contesting the election on the ground that illegal votes were cast for Penny. Through his attorneys, George D. Florence, of Stanford, and Robert Harding, of Danville, it was alleged that illegal votes were cast for McRoberts, and thus the issue joined, with Judge Hardin, in the circuit court here, deciding that McRoberts had been legally elected, followed by the Court of Appeals decision, that Penny was elected. The highest court, after reviewing all of the evidence, decides that Penny received 169 legal votes to 168 legal votes for McRoberts, and directs that a certificate of election be issued to Penny, and that the lower court enter an order declaring him to have been duly elected School Trustee.

The decision of the Court of Appeals reversing the circuit court's judgment hinged upon the question of the legality of a number of votes cast by ladies, mostly for Mr. McRoberts, which were alleged to have been "relayed" to the officers of election. Some of the ladies were alleged to have remained in their buggies and to have told others to inform the election officers how they wished their votes cast; others, drove up or walked up and informed one of the election officers, who thereupon informed the other. After discussing the constitutional changes in the method of voting, from the viva voce to the secret ballot, in all elections, except for school trustee and other common school district elections the appellate court concludes as follows:

"The constitution invariably placed upon the provisions of the constitutions of 1799, and 1849, and the act of 1799, supra, (which originally established the viva voce system of voting in Kentucky) and the other acts of the General Assembly relating to elections, was that the person entitled to vote, must come in person, into the immediate presence of the officers of the election, and with his own voice declare his choice as between candidates. The immediate presence of the officers of the election has been in the same way construed to mean to be immediately at the place, where the officers conducting the election are situated, so that each of them may hear the declaration of the voter, and so that the clerk may receive the vote, and so that the clerk records his vote in accordance with his wishes. Neither the clerk nor the judges of the election should be required or allowed to obtain the name, or the wishes of any voter, as to how he desires to vote, from any other source than the voter himself, except in the case of deaf or dumb voters, for the purpose of recording the vote. The reasons for the enforcement of the above requirements are very obvious, to wit: the province of the judges to determine the qualifications of the voter, but it is the duty of the clerk to record the vote. For the information to be imparted to the judge, alone, as to the wish of a voter, would compel the clerk to make his record from second hand information, and if the wish of the voter is imparted to the clerk, alone, the judges would have no opportunity to determine the qualifications of the voter, and the bystanders watching the conduct of the election would have no opportunity to make protest against wrongs. For the officers of the election, or any one of them, to receive, and record a vote, upon information from any person, other than the voter himself, as to his desire to vote and his choice, however, near the proposed voter might be to the polling place, would dispense with the necessity of voters appearing in person to the polling place at all. While in the instant case, it is not intended that it should be inferred that either the clerk or the election officers or the voters were guilty of any intentional wrongs, this court could not give sanction to a method of voting, which, if of general application, would necessarily result in conducting viva voce elections, in such a loose and unsatisfactory manner, that it would produce general dissatisfaction in the results of such elections, and bring them into general disrepute.

"Applying the above stated principles, we are of the opinion that the court did not err in adjudging that the votes cast by Mrs. Bettie Barnett and Mrs. Bettie McKinney were properly received and recorded for appellee, and that the vote recorded as that of Miss Minnie Woods was properly disallowed. For the same reasons we think the court was in error in holding that the votes recorded for appellee as the votes of Mrs. R. C. Warren, Mrs. W. M.

Bright, Mrs. E. D. Kennedy, and Mrs. W. K. Warner were properly received and recorded.

"It therefore appears, that upon the whole case the appellate received 169 legal votes for the office of school trustee, and for the same office the appellee received 168 legal votes."

Ownership of Lincoln County Homes.
The United States Census Department at Washington has just issued a bulletin dealing with the ownership of Lincoln county homes. The important facts contained in the bulletin relating to this county are as follows: There are 3813 homes in Lincoln county. Of this number 2475 are farm homes. 1630 of the farm homes are owned by their occupants and are free of mortgage incumbrance. The mortgaged farm homes number 225. Renters occupy 587 farm homes in this county. Out of a total of 3813 homes in the county 1828 are urban homes. There are 532 urban home owners in the county. Of this number 40 are mortgaged. 387 of the urban owned homes are free of incumbrance. There are 691 rented urban homes in the county. The census enumerators were unable to secure data pertaining to the ownership of a small percentage of both the rural and urban homes in this county.

Alvin Padgett Gets $5,000 from R. R.
An important damage judgment from the Lincoln circuit court was affirmed by the Court of Appeals Thursday morning, by which Alvin Padgett, a well known young man of Waynesburg, will receive $5,000 from the Cincinnati Southern railroad company, for the loss of a leg. Padgett was working for the railroad in 1911 at Lexington when a dynamite blast went off and he lost a leg in the explosion. He brought suit with Attorney George D. Florence, of Danville, and Robert Harding, of Danville, and won his case in the lower court and the higher court this week affirms the judgment.

Raiding 'Shiners in Menifee
Deputy Sheriff James H. Wells, Deputy Collector Wells and a posse made a raid on Hawkins branch, Menifee county and destroyed a 60-gallon copper still, one of the largest seen in years. They also destroyed seven barrels of mash but the operators got away. The raid was made by Wells and these officers in one week in that county.

CATTLE NOT FROM LINCOLN
Which Well Had Destroyed Up North—Lexington Paper Confuses Items.

The Lexington Leader of Wednesday copied from the I. J. two items, running them together in such a way as to cause confusion in the minds of those who read them. In one item, the I. J. told of Wells having lost a number of cattle in Pennsylvania from the foot and mouth disease, and another item the I. J. told of Maurice Weil having bought the Lexington paper and the two items together in such a way as to make many people think that it was the Jones cattle that were found to have the disease and that they had to be destroyed. The I. J. stated plainly that the cattle Weil lost were some which had been secured north of the river. They were not the Jones cattle, and in fact, the I. J. understands now they were secured by Weil from Woodford county. No foot and mouth disease has ever appeared in Lincoln county or as far as the I. J. can learn in this section of the state. The Jones cattle went on to market, absolutely free from taint or discrimination as have all of the herds shipped out of this county. Had the Leader printed the items exactly as they appeared in the I. J. instead of running them together, and cutting out part of them, this mistake would not have occurred, nor confusion been caused in the minds of many who read them, regarding the disease.

Long In The Lord's Service
Eld. J. W. Harding, one of the oldest ministers in the state, celebrated the seventy-first anniversary of his marriage at his home in Winchester. He was married in 1844 in a house a short distance from where he now resides. He will be ninety-three years old in May, and a record of the marriages and deaths at which he has officiated would fill a library. He regularly preaches at Fairfax church in that city. A few days after his marriage Elder Harding attended a circus in Winchester, and after going home declared he would never attend another or go to a fair or public entertainment at an opera house unless under the auspices of the church, and he declares that he has kept his word.

The city council of Burnside has ordered fire escapes for the various hotels there.

COOPER TALKED TO MANY FRIENDS
The Great European War Will Not Affect Distribution of Tanlac

Lexington, March 4.
Thousands of farmers from Fayette and adjoining counties heard L. C. Cooper, the great philanthropist, in Lexington recently. Cooper gave one of his famous lectures on health and hygiene, in connection with an interesting demonstration of the remarkable medicine he is introducing to the American people.

Several score of the same farmers took part in the agricultural exposition conducted by Cooper at his own personal expense in Lexington. Many of the displays excelled the exhibits seen at the county fairs, and have attracted widespread attention throughout Kentucky.

In speaking of Tanlac and the remarkable cure of farm medicine in general, Cooper said to the farmers: "Tanalac, gentlemen, is not a common patent medicine—the kind of medicine recently spoken of by Hon. Oscar Underwood, the Democratic leader of the House of Representatives in our national Congress at Washington, D. C. You all know that Mr. Underwood was a candidate for the democratic nomination for president, and that he is a man of great ability and integrity. He is a native Kentuckian, too."

"Realizing what a real hardship it would bring to the thousands of American people who daily use Tanlac and similar proprietary medicines, should these preparations be included among the popular remedies in which a special war revenue tax was placed, Congressman Underwood, with characteristic sagacity of the people's rights, placed himself on record as unalterably opposed to any legislation that would increase the price of proprietary medicines, or which would tend to deprive the working man of his best friend."

"The result was that Tanlac and similar proprietary medicines were stricken completely off the war revenue bill. Thus it is, gentlemen, that the thousands of sufferers in this country are enabled to obtain Tanlac now at a price within the reach of the most modest means."

Here, Cooper, holding the attention of the great assemblage, explained the causes and enumerated the symptoms of stomach, liver and kidney troubles.

"Most of the so-called stomach, liver and kidney troubles," said the noted student, "are due almost entirely to catarrhal inflammation of those organs. The constant coughing up of mucus, dull, throbbing headaches, pains in the pit of the stomach, side and kidney region, lost appetite, nervousness, lost ambition, depression of spirits, and susceptibility to coughs and colds, are common symptoms of this miserable condition from which so many suffer."

Cooper then produced hundreds of testimonials from Lexington people as convincing evidence of the genuine merits of Tanlac.

Tanalac is now sold in Stanford by Penny's Drug Store.

LATEST WAR NEWS
The German submarine U-8, a sister craft of the U-9, was sunk by a destroyer belonging to the Dover flotilla and the crew taken prisoners.

The attack of the allied fleet upon the German fleet in the Dardanelles continued, according to the British Admiralty report. French battleships bombarded the Gallipoli forts and wrecked the Kava bridge. Six modern field guns were captured at "Fort B" and troops at various points were shelled.

The State Department published the German reply to the American note in which the German government professes to see in the proposals a possible basis of solution of complaints of neutrals regarding submarine warfare as well as dangers to shipments of foodstuffs to civilians of countries of belligerents meet with the hearty accord of the Berlin foreign office.

HUSTONVILLE
The sick at Sidney Brown's are on the improve at present.

Mr. Fred Jeffers is reported as very feeble at his home on the Liberty pike near High Bluff, near the Casey and Lincoln roads.

The masquerade rink on the 22d of February was largely attended by skaters and spectators and some of them were very hard to recognize in their fantastic garbs. Dr. Chase had most everyone fooled. He was dressed as a Spanish maid and acted the part well. All of the young men were after him to skate with them, in the hope of learning "her" identity, but none "caught on" until his costume partly removed near the end of the evening. There will be an annual masquerade rink on St. Patrick's Day, March 17th.

The cold days last week put a stop to early garden work.

Sheriff Weatherford was here on business Monday, for a short while. Mrs. W. Leigh and children visited relatives at Shelby City Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. J. D. Burton is still in a serious condition, with no change for the better at present.

Miss Ben Newbern went to Cincinnati after a three weeks' visit to take charge of the new millinery store that will be opened on March 15 at the Weatherford Company's place.

Mack Stum made a very successful trip last week in Russell county with Leith McKinney, of Mt. Salem, who was Tuesday on business.

Mrs. J. P. Good arrived home Tuesday after a week's visit to her sick sister in Louisville. She also visited her daughter and other relatives in the city.

Mrs. J. G. Weatherford of Stanford, and sister, Miss Mack Logan, of Hustonville, were visitors in Louisville, last week, among relatives.

Mrs. W. R. Williams arrived home last week after a three weeks' visit to her daughter, Mrs. Frank Mansfield. Mrs. Williams is feeling some better at present but is still in a very serious condition.

Hops have been dying of cholera in this section, for the first time in a long season.

BECKHAM NOW U. S. SENATOR
Will Be Accorded High Recognition in Body, Says Kern.

Strenuous scenes enlivened the fading hours of the Sixty-third Congress, which had been in session almost continuously for two years, and which had revised the tariff and currency systems of the nation, supplemented the trust laws, created an income tax and demonstrated elections of United States Senators by the people.

Two notable changes in the Kentucky delegation at Washington became effective at the end of this session of congress. Congressman A. O. Stanley retired as representative from the second district, after 12 years of service, and J. N. Camden retired as United States Senator, having filled out the unexpired term of the late Senator W. O. Bradley.

Gov. J. C. W. Beckham became Kentucky's new senator on March 4th, and will be received at Washington with all honors commensurate with this responsible and dignified position.

A dispatch from Washington to the city papers says: Senator-elect J. C. W. Beckham, of Kentucky, has something real good coming to him in the line of committee assignments according to Senator John W. Kern, democratic floor leader of the Senate. Mr. Kern incidentally took a fling at Senator Camden, whom Senator-elect Beckham will succeed March 4, by drawing a comparison between the Beckham and Camden brands of Democracy, to the disparagement of the latter. Learning that Senator-elect Beckham had arrived in Washington he made the following carefully dictated statement last night:

"Senator-elect Beckham will be well known to the members of the committee assignments. A matter of his ability, character and Democracy need have no fear and he will be given committee assignments commensurate with his ability and standing. He comes here with the good will of everybody, and the contrast between his brand of Democracy and that of Camden will be so striking that there will be a very general desire to show our appreciation of Kentucky's good taste in the sending him here and the best will be done to good for him."

One assignment probably will be to the Committee on Foreign Relations. Mr. Beckham had lunch at the Capitol with Senator James, and left last night for home. He and James are on friendly terms. It was remarked that with these two young men in the harness Kentucky will be represented by Senators whose combined age is under that of the Senators representing any other State. James is forty-three and Beckham forty-five. The Wisconsin, only last year, was being equal to the combined ages of both James and Beckham.

George Salem Dies at London.
Isaac Salem was called to London Tuesday by a wife telling of the illness of his cousin, George Salem. He left at once but found his relative dead when he arrived. Deceased had been ailing for some time and is survived by a wife and two children. He was about 38 years old. The burial occurred at London.

Councilman Powell Resigns
At the regular meeting of the City Council Thursday night, the resignation of Councilman J. R. Powell was tendered and accepted and S. M. Sauley was elected to fill the vacancy on the Council. Plans were discussed for street improvement and the street committee was empowered to purchase rock and make necessary arrangements. Mr. Powell and Bev Rout have recently opened quarries and will make it easy for the city to obtain rock, something that has been hard to secure for the streets heretofore. A committee composed of Councilmen Eubanks and Anderson was named to act on applications for building permits requested by Dr. W. B. O'Bannon and Phillips Bros.

CRAB ORCHARD.
Mr. McCollum and daughter from Junction City were with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gover and other relatives this week.

Miss Bessie Holtzclaw, of Stanford, was the guest of Miss Mary Bailey Saturday and Sunday, last.

Mr. James Cooper of Stanford, was a guest of Mr. Carroll Bailey and family.

The Oyster Feast given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian Church last Saturday was liberally patronized and something near twenty dollars was taken in for which they desire to thank those who assisted in the cause.

Mr. Robert C. White sent liberal supplies of oysters and good things to the sick in town last Saturday, and they wish to thank him kindly in this letter for his thoughtfulness of them.

Mrs. Maggie Gover, of Stanford, was here Saturday to see her father, Mr. Alfred Davis, who is very sick at his home here.

Mr. Shirley Gover and Miss Judd of Stanford, were here Saturday.

Little Daisy Frances, the sweet little baby of Mr. and Mrs. Bragg Thompson was called to bloom in a fairer clime Saturday morning last. For four long months the patient mother watched it struggle with asthma and at last it contracted whooping cough and the two diseases were more than the little one could endure. As we looked upon its beautiful form so cold in death, we felt how much of sorrow, and trial it has escaped and how glorious heaven is to be peopled with innocent souls like little Daisy. The sympathy of all our people is extended to the bereaved family in this hour.

Mrs. Alvin Holmes is quite sick in her home near town.

All his friends are rejoicing with Mr. Levi Elder on his appointment as rural mail carrier on the Chapel's Gap route, for we are sure he is the man for the place.

Raymond Bell fell near Sander's store and broke one of the small bones in his left wrist. It was promptly attended to by Dr. W. J. Edmonson and he is not suffering any.

Miss Melsaida Chadwick took Leon Fife to her home in Winchester, and will spend some time with her sister, Mrs. Fife in that city.

Mr. Charles Buchanan left for Cleveland, Ohio, Sunday, Feb. 28, after spending the winter with his mother here. He was a favorite with the young people who regretted to have him leave.

On Tuesday night of last week, there was a dance at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. John King, given in honor of Miss Myrtle Jones, of London, Ky., and Mr. Charles Buchanan of Cleveland, Ohio, who were going to leave the city for their homes.

On Saturday night there was a dance at Mr. William King's near Gum Sulphur. Mr. and Mrs. John King chaperoned the crowd from here, of about twenty youngsters, providing a nice covered wagon, and plenty of warm wraps. They had a fine time so they report, and thank Mr. and Mrs. King for their enjoyment.

TWO CRAB ORCHARD CHURCHES GET BIG SUMS
In Omnibus War Claims Bill Passed By Congress This Week—Others In This Section Benefitted.

As a result of the untiring work of Senator Ollie M. James Congress passed an omnibus claims bill before adjournment Thursday, which carries about $147,000 to Kentuckians, for losses sustained in the war between the states. President Wilson signed the measure, and it is now a law. As a result of this action, the Baptist church at Crab Orchard will receive $1,050, the Crab Orchard Christian church $500, and many individuals in this section of the state are included. What Prohib Will Ask of Congress
Charles H. Randall, Prohibition party Congressman-elect from California, in an address to prohibitionists at Baltimore, announced that it will be proposed in the next Congress that the Federal Government shall withdraw from the liquor business all the facilities which are under the Government's control or ownership.

"A series of four proposed laws are being prepared," he said, "briefly described as follows:

"First—Federal liquor license receipts are hereafter to be issued only to holders of valid licenses already granted by local authorities in the States.

"Second—The United States mails will be closed to use by the liquor interests for any purpose, whatever, thus preventing the vicious and fraudulent advertising published in many newspapers and sent through the mails.

"Third—The United States will prohibit the use of interstate commerce for liquor shipments or for any purpose, and will stop importations from foreign countries, thus erecting a stone wall at every state line.

"Fourth—A Federal embargo will be placed against the waste or food products by prohibiting the transformation of grain, fruits or any products valuable for food, into intoxicating or alcoholic liquors."

Broke Ground For Bungalow
John A. Allen, who has done more building in Stanford in the past five years than any two men of this city, broke ground Wednesday for a pretty bungalow on Miller street. He expects to have it completed in a couple of months. Dr. W. B. O'Bannon will also build a bungalow on the lot south of his home on Lancaster street as soon as the weather warms up a little.
